

Advertisement Terms and Conditions

All advertising is on a prepaid basis. Ads that are not prepaid will not be published, unless arrangements have been discussed and approved in writing. Confirmation that your advertising request has been received will be sent via e-mail after processing. If you do not receive a confirmation within one week, please contact CDAM.

Appearance of an advertisement does not constitute a recommendation or endorsement by the Criminal Defense Attorneys of Michigan, CDAM. Advertising with CDAM is contingent upon available space, and publication is at the discretion of the editor. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertising request.

The contents of the advertisement are solely the responsibility of the advertisers. Advertisers assume liability for all content (including text, representations and illustrations, and any material on a website to which the advertisement provides a link or reference) of advertisements printed, and also assume liability for all content (including text, representations and illustrations, and any material on a website to which the advertisement provides a link or reference) of advertisements printed, and also assume responsibility for any claims arising thereof made against the publisher. Advertisers represent and warrant that they possess the necessary rights to permit the use of the advertisement and of any content on any website referenced or linked to in the advertisement, for the purpose of this Agreement, and that the content complies with all relevant laws and regulations.

Advertisers further represent and warrant that the use, reproduction, distribution, or transmission of the advertisement will not violate any criminal laws, regulations, or the rights of third parties. Such violations included, but are not limited to, infringement or misappropriation of a copyright, patent, trademark trade secret, music image, or other proprietary or property right; false advertising; unfair competition; defamation; slander of the title; invasion of privacy or rights of celebrity; violation of any antidiscrimination law or regulation; or any other right of any person or entity.

Advertisers agree to indemnify and to keep indemnified CDAM, its directors, employees and agents, without limitation, and to hold them harmless from any and all liability, loss, damages, claims, or causes of action, including legal fees and expenses, that may be incurred by CDAM arising out of the publication of the advertiser's material.

The publisher shall not be liable for any costs or damages if for any reason it fails to publish an advertisement. The publisher's liability for any error will not exceed the cost of the space occupied by the error or the erroneous ad.

Advertisements that have been accepted and are later found to be fraudulent or misleading in the judgment of the Publisher, and advertisements that are the subject of a lawsuit, will be removed from CDAM publications. CDAM will not provide a refund for advertisements removed under those conditions. Fraudulent or misleading ads include, but are not limited to, advertisements that order a product or service that is not delivered, and advertisements that are judged to mislead readers into buying something other than the advertised product or service, and advertisements from companies subject to unresolved complaints to the Better Business Bureau.

This policy applies to all CDAM online and printed publications.
